Spencer Is Appointed Fuel Distributor By President Harding

Producing Coal Mines Will Be Furnished With Cars to Transport Fuel

TO FORM LOCAL BODIES

Each State Will Take Responsibility of Distribution and Price Fixing

By Associated Press
Washington—All producing coal mines of the country will be given first call on railroad coal cars as soon as the organization of the administration's emergency fuel control machine is completed, it was announced Saturday by Secretary Hoover, chairman of the federal coal distribution committee.

The priorities on cars to producing mines will be passed upon by the distribution committee, Mr. Hoover said, so that all coal may be obtained under the fair prices agreed upon to prevent profiteering. The commerce secretary said it would then be up to the states to maintain prices within their boundaries by the prevention of re-sales and profiteering.

Mr. Hoover plans to make public soon proposals being sent to all of the states for the organization of local fuel control bodies. The federal plan he added, contemplates that each state shall take the entire responsibility for distribution and prices within its boundaries while the federal government will see to it that the states get coal from the operators at fair prices.

The commerce secretary in this connection stated that Henry B. Spencer, the administrative member of the president's committee is to be known as the federal fuel distributor and not as an administrator.

The government Mr. Hoover said, is not establishing the old time fuel administration system but is chiefly concerned in the equitable distribution of coal.

The plans for emergency, Mr. Hoover said, will not be uniform but adapted to the administrative needs of each state as conditions vary. States far from coal centers, he declared, must be accorded greater transportation facilities than those nearer the producing field.

Marquette, Mich.—That a complete tieup of the service between Salt Lake and Duluth will come at the end of 60 days unless a new supply of coal is obtained, is the prediction of officials of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroad here. Only if the passenger service is curtailed to the minimum can the coal supply suffice until Sept. 15, it is also asserted.

MANY TOURISTS MOTOR THROUGH BADGER STATE

Report Shows That Number of Free Camp Sites is Rapidly Increasing

Milwaukee—Present figures compiled by the Travel Bureau of the Milwaukee Journal show 1922 to be the greatest touring season in the history of the mid-western states. To date 10,002 out-state motorists have stopped at the bureau to inquire routes and information to different Wisconsin resorts according to W. W. "Brownie" Rowland, director of tourism. "The visitors," said Mr. Rowland, "come from practically every state in the union. We also have given road and trail information to 822 Wisconsin motorists who were bound to Yellowstone park, either coast or some of the other famous touring centers of the country."

"The free camp site has also come to stay. No longer do auto tourists worry about hotel accommodations. They carry their outfits with them and thousands of cities and villages have set aside plots of ground for their comfort and convenience."

"In 1921 Wisconsin had about 100 free camp sites for tourists. Figures compiled by our road representatives thus far show the Badger state has increased this number to 237. This is true in a smaller degree throughout the other mid-western states I have visited."

During the last quarter 63,650 acres were drained at a cost of $373,000. Projects are under way in Jefferson county, Juneau county, Columbia county, Dane county, Crawford county and Oconto county.

In the Crawford county district, 11,250 acres are being drained at a cost of $636,000, while in the Oconto county district 45,000 acres are being drained at an estimated cost of $240,000.

SOCIALISTS OF WISCONSIN ARE SCORED AT MEET

National Committee Objects to Support of LaFollette by Badger Party

By Associated Press
Milwaukee, Wis.—Wisconsin Socialists were scored by the national executive committee of the Socialist party for not naming a candidate to oppose Senator Robert M. LaFollette at the coming primaries is a statement which was adopted by the committee, according to a report received here. New York members demanded an explanation from the Wisconsin Socialists which led to the statement of the national committee. It read as follows:—

"The National Executive committee takes a cognizance of the explanation of the Socialist party of Wisconsin as to the reason for its failure to name a candidate in opposition to Robert M. LaFollette.

"The committee realizes that the situation in Wisconsin was very exceptional, and declares that the action of the Wisconsin comrades is under no circumstances to be regarded as a precedent, and that the Socialist party is definitely committed against any support direct or indirect, of any candidate for public office on the ticket of either of the old parties."

At the state convention of the Socialist party held here, on June 18 a resolution was passed after a bitter fight in which it declared against putting up a candidate for United States senator against LaFollette.

Victor L. Berger, who it was said at the time would receive no opposition from the LaFollette forces in his campaign for re-election from the fifth congressional district—led the fight for the LaFollette endorsement.

FORM BASIS OF AGREEMENT IN RAIL STRIKE

Plans for Settlement Have Been Arranged and Will Be In Operation Soon

HARDING PRESSURE FELT

President Will Make Suggestions for Handling of Seniority Problem

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The basis for a settlement of the railroad strike now has been arranged.

Fully a week will be required for the actual operation of the plan which requires on the one hand ratification by a meeting of the 148 railroad executives in New York next Tuesday and further conferences on the other side between President Harding and the railroad workmen.

Negotiations will be carried on by regions. This will take more time than if the procedure had been agreed upon through a national adjustment board but the representatives of the strikers have not insisted upon that process and are willing to take advantage of the machinery set up by the transportation act for regional adjustments.

FIRST TO FORM BASIS OF SENIORITY AGAIN

As for the seniority rights the exact formula for handling the problem depends largely upon the reception which will be given at next Tuesday's meeting to a series of suggestions conveyed by President Harding in person to T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

Broadly the situation is decidedly hopeful, in fact barring any unforeseen delays the strike on the railroads can be considered as practically settled now. Its ending might be expected Thursday night but for the decision that it might be wiser to call all the 148 railroad executives together so that their action might constitute an assurance to the railroad workmen of uniformity of treatment.

HARDING PRESENTS CASE

President Harding did not attempt, in his conference with Mr. Cuyler, a dictatorial attitude. He presented with characteristic amiability what seemed to him the obstacles to settlement and the grave danger which might confront the country if the railroad strike were prolonged. Unquestionably Mr. Harding sees much merit in the contention of the railroad that the restoration of seniority rights would be a breach of faith with the workmen who did not strike but being faced with a practical situation Mr. Harding is anxious to have for the time being at least a settlement of that issue so that the roads might get back to normal and resume coal carrying.

ROADS' VIEWPOINT

Administration officials plainly sympathize with the stand the railroad executives have taken with respect to seniority rights but realize that to carry the fight on it to extremes will not get transportation enough to carry coal.

Many of the men who took the place of the strikers are experienced workers. Large numbers of them were laid off by the railroads a few months ago when curtailment of personnel was being generally ordered throughout the railroad world. It is difficult to tell just how many are former employees as many, fearing the wrath of union brethren, have come back under assumed names. Their method of work, however, has convinced their superior that they worked for railroads before as they seem to know their jobs.

At Kewaunee he was equally as emphatic, saying:—

"I have known Elmer Hall for more than 25 years and he is a progressive on whom I could always rely. Send him down to Washington. We need men like that there."

Early in the campaign Mr. Schneider said he would not withdraw from the race, regardless of whom LaFollette endorsed. It is believed he means to stay in to the finish.

"Moon" Refuse Clogs Sewers Of Sheboygan

By Associated Press

Sheboygan—Citizens of Sheboygan have been appealed to by city engineer Boley to stop dumping into city sewers moonshine or refuse from operations incident thereto, as such method of disposal results in clogging of the sewerage system.

"When you get through manufacturing a batch of moonshine, throw the waste into your garbage cans; do not let the sewers be the receptacle, as the pipes become clogged and cause needless expense," said the city engineer.

Mr. Boley said that grain waste thrown into the sewer has sprouted in the underground system in different sections of the city. His appeal is directed to the working class as well as the well to do.

DIVERT COAL TO FACTORIES IN GREAT NEED

Lighting Companies at Berlin and Baraboo Will Receive Shipments

By Associated Press

Madison—The Wisconsin State Fuel committee Saturday issued its first priority order directing that coal be shipped to the Wisconsin Power Light and Heat co. at Baraboo and Berlin. The weekly requirement at those two points is 60 tons.

Meeting of the committee was held again Saturday to decide upon means of procuring information requested by the national fuel administration. A survey is to be made of all wholesale coal dealers, retail dealers, utilities and of governmental institutions to determine their needs and the quantity of fuel on hand in addition to the ordinary weekly consumption of the necessary industries.

Priority orders will probably be issued Saturday, members of the committee said, permitting cheese factories and creameries to obtain supplies of coal. Requests came from all parts of the state Friday, telling that the dairy industry would be endangered unless coal could be ordered with which to operate the cooling plants in the big milk receiving centers.

Administration of the coal orders in Wisconsin is being undertaken through marketing department law enacted by the 1921 session of the legislature, giving broad powers to the state to cope with situations such as the present one.

At the meeting of the committee Tuesday, Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, was elected chairman and J. B. Borden, secretary of the state board of public affairs was chosen secretary. Machinery was at once set in motion for gathering information requested by the federal government.

DUTY SCANDAL IS CHARGED BY SEN. CARAWAY

Democrat From Arkansas Says Senators Are Interested Financially in Tariff

By Associated Press

Washington—Investigation of charges that certain senators are interested financially in the rates of duties proposed in particular schedules of the pending tariff bill was proposed in a resolution introduced Saturday by Senator Caraway, Democrat from Arkansas.

The inquiry would be conducted by the judiciary committee which would be instructed to report to the senate within ten days. Also the committee would inquire into charges that senators, in the language of the resolution, "are or were financially interested in the passage or extension of the so-called emergency tariff."

Senator Caraway read from an editorial in the New York Herald charging that certain senators were interested in the production of wool and immediately was interrupted successively by all of the senators mentioned in the editorial with a resulting running cross fire of debate which waxed warm at times.

Senator Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Republican agricultural tariff bloc, said Senator Caraway had voted for a duty on rice and that his intent in rice should be investigated. Denying that he or any of his relatives had any financial interest in the production of rice, Senator Caraway said he would say to anybody who so charged that he was an "unqualified liar."

Senator Caraway asked for immediate consideration of the resolution but Senator Wadsworth Republican of New York objected and the measure went over under the rules.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM HIT BY COAL STRIKE

Madison—The concrete highway construction program in Wisconsin will have to be cut sharply because of the coal strike and the railroad shopmen's strike, F. A. Cannon, secretary of the good roads association of Wisconsin said in a statement Saturday. Over 270 miles of projected concrete road will be affected.

"Priority orders of the Interstate commerce commission in the matter of freight cars brought about this climax because of the fact that cars for hauling cement, gravel and stones are not included in the orders," Mr. Cannon said.

He says that the highway commission will soon undertake to classify the highways of the state so that construction can continue on the roads of major importance and be curtailed on the less important highways. A condition somewhat similar to that existing in 1920 when shortage of material and high prices required classification of the important construction, will ensue.

REPORT MORE ACCIDENTS IN WISCONSIN THIS YEAR

Madison—The industrial commission Saturday announced that there were 4,373 accidents reported in Wisconsin during the past quarter, compared to 4,116 for the corresponding quarter in 1921. For the fiscal year ending June 30, there have been 16,685 accidents reported to the commission compared with 15,957 reported for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, a decrease of 2,303 accidents.

During the quarter 623 accidents were investigated by the engineering division of the commission, R. Mc A. Keown, engineer reports. Thirty six per cent were said to have been caused by violations of commission orders.

Present Plan To Recognize Rights Of Men At Work

Divorces Are Making Paris Reno Of Europe

By Associated Press

Paris—The increasing number of divorces obtained in Paris by prominent Americans and other foreigners seeking relief from matrimonial infelicity has led to many inquiries as to why the French capital apparently has become such an European Reno for discontented spouses.

The chief magnet appears to be in the fact that divorce proceedings may be brought in French courts with silent ease and completed without even friends and acquaintances becoming aware, at least through the medium of French newspapers, that there has been the slightest ripple on the sea of domesticity. Publication of such proceedings by native newspapers is a criminal offense, on the grounds of lowering public morals. The newspapers may print the names of those involved if they can obtain them, and the fact that a divorce has been granted, but nothing more.

KLUWIN UPHOLDS VALLEY LEAGUE IN OUSTING DAYMEN

League President Blames Green Bay Management for Losing Franchise

By Associated Press

Oshkosh—Regarding the action of the Fox River Valley league in taking the franchise from the Green Bay club and offering it to Sheboygan, John F. Kluwin, President of the League, Saturday showed his approval in the following statement:

"The action of the directors speaks volumes for clean sport conducted under the rules of organized baseball. It has my unqualified approval. Every club will be money out of pocket because Green Bay was the paying city in the league."

In placing league baseball, and the good of the entire league above mere monetary considerations, we are only keeping faith with our promises made when this league was organized.

"Mr. Reimer who controls and dictates the present policy of the Green Bay club has by his every action indicated that he prefers independent baseball to league baseball. We do not believe that the fans of Green Bay who have socially supported the game are represented by his views, or will approve his continuance."

"The continued ignoring of many of the rules and the deliberate violation of others after repeated warnings left the directors no other course. There was and is no feeling against Green Bay."

"Mr. Reimer because of the policies he inaugurated was unacceptable to the directors to continue as a director of the league and as director of the policies of the Green Bay club. Before final action was taken he was given the opportunity to save league baseball for Green Bay by consenting that some other in whom the league directors had confidence would conduct the club within the rules of the league. He refused absolutely to consider such a proposition."

"The public has the right to expect—yes, the right to demand that the business of conducting baseball must be absolutely on the square. It will be so conducted or not at all."

End of Shopmen's Walk Out is Expected to Come by End of Next Week

PENSION NOT MENTIONED

Outside Contracts of Railroad Repair Work Will Be Eliminated

Chicago—As the strike of 300,000 railway shopmen entered its fifth week Saturday the outlook for peace was bright and in rail circles here the belief was expressed that the walk out would not last beyond the end of the sixth week. Meetings were set for Tuesday both by the rail chiefs and workers on strike at which time President Harding's plan for a settlement was expected to be acted upon.

The conference of rail heads, the call for which was issued Thursday, by T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railroad Executives will be held in New York. Representatives of the strikers will meet in Chicago in answer to word sent out Friday night by B. M. Jewell, head of the shopworker's organization. Timothy Healey, head of the Stationary Firemen and Oiler's union issued a call for a meeting Tuesday to discuss settlement of the strike of that organization. The president's plans were not made public. However, it became known from authoritative sources that it embraced settlement of all the strikers' grievances except the wage question, which would be submitted to the railroad labor board for a rehearing.

FIRST AD PRESENT PLAN to 2 col 43

Under the plan as outlined, the president's stand for recognition of the rights of men now at work would be carried out. Union shopmen who did not strike would be placed at the head of railroad's seniority lists which means that they would be assured of permanent work since in slack times the workers at the head of the lists are the first to be laid off. Union shopmen who did strike would be placed next on the lists and after them would come the men hired by the roads since the strike began. No mention was made of the pension rights and it was not learned whether this question had been included in the president's plan. If pension rights should not be restored, workers who have been in the service of their respective employers for a number of years would forfeit the benefits allowed which give workers the privilege of retiring after a certain number of years with a continuance of a percentage of their pay.

Western railroads have been insisting that men now at work should be placed at the head of seniority lists, asserting that if their rights were not thus recognized there would be no incentive for men to stay at work in the event of a strike in the future.

Also included in the president's plan was eliminating of outside contract repair work by the railroads. This would mean that each railroad would do its own repair work in its own shops.

Another demand of the strikers was included in the settlement program, this related to the setting up of national and regional adjustment boards to expedite the adjustment of disputes between workers and employers.

The wage question would be left to the labor board the striking shopmen to recognize the boards wage rate decision and return to work with the assurance that their case would receive prompt attention by the boards. In addition the administration is understood to have assured the shopmen that it will make every effort to have labor sections of the Each-Commins bill amended so that the labor board may be directed to fix the pay of the workers on a "living wage" basis.

While union chiefs and rail heads were presumed to be on the verge of making peace, violence was slightly increased in strike areas, reports indicated.

ROTARIANS AND WIVES PLANNING OUTING AT LAKE

Horseshoe, Croquet and Checkers Among Strenuous Sports Scheduled

A regular old-fashioned elbow to elbow picnic is planned for members of the Rotary club and their families to be held at George Wettengel's and George Packard's cottages Tuesday afternoon. The Fellowship committee and the committee wives met Friday night to make the necessary arrangements.

The plan to give away ice cream cones during the afternoon and evening will meet with the approval of the children. There will be bathing and swimming, but mostly bathing. The committee requests everyone to bring bathing suits or else come after sundown. One of the members has been commissioned as a committee of one to put the suits into the wash tub immediately after using.

Games and contests to test the physical prowess of the pinners will be promoted. Croquet and horseshoe are among the more strenuous sports. Tennis, volleyball and a fluent basketball game are also under consideration. There will be athletic contests for all and comic races for the women arranged. Elaborate means a spacious supper. Fifty bears will be rationed for every person, said the chairman of the committee, no more no less. Snider has been appointed official counter. It was at first intended to order 130 pies but as some of the men do not care for this fruit, the number was reduced to 85. The women members of the committee decided on four pounds of potato chips but the men wanted 10. They finally compromised on six and a quarter.

It is not to be forgotten that there will also be yellow ribbons. But it is hoped that it will not be necessary to award any of these. They will be given for any act committed by a patrol which in the opinion of the camp council is contrary to the law and spirit of the camp.

Hosiery and knit goods show decreases, the balance of the clothing industry showing gains. Flour mills were on the decrease list, while meat packing, milk products and canning show increases.

During the month 12,340 placements were made by employment offices. Building and construction work, lumbering, metal and machine work and transportation took on the most men. In general, little unemployment is reported among the skilled workers.

Crop outlook and approaching harvest has strengthened demand for farm help.

MEETING OF SHOE MEN TO BE SCHOOL IN SALESMANSHIP

Program of State Convention Here in August Will Take Up Practical Problems

A school in modern and successful retailing is in store for the delegates who will be here Aug. 8, 9 and 10 to attend the sixth annual convention of the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers' association. The program contains discussions of many practical subjects by able men.

Mayor Henry Reuter is scheduled to give the address of welcome on the opening day, Tuesday, Aug. 8. There will be several talks in the afternoon. Senator Oscar Morris of Milwaukee is to talk on "The Retailer and Legislation." Attorney F. L. Fawcett, Milwaukee, will discuss legal phases of retailing, and the Rev. G. Kenneth MacInnis, Green Bay, will have as his subject, "Co-operation and Smiles."

Henry Hagemann, Columbus, Ohio, will be the first speaker on the second day's program and will take up the topic of "Insurance." Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of the chamber of commerce then will speak on "Chain Stores vs. Independent Stores." George M. Spangler, secretary of the National Shoe Retailers' association, Chicago, also will give a talk. An open forum will be conducted the same morning on "Business, How to get it, How to Figure It, How to Run It."

On the closing day Walter J. Booth, vice president of Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, will address the retailers on "Co-operation." W. F. Kerwin, manager of Green Bay Association of Commerce also will speak, choosing as his subject, "What the St. Lawrence Waterway Means to Wisconsin."

A tentative program is in preparation and copies will be mailed soon by the local publicity committee to every shoe dealer in the state.

Wear Belt And Suspenders In Efficiency Days

A certain definition of a pessimist is the man who wears both suspenders and a belt, but the pessimists are in vogue at the present time. Only the men of the older generation are wearing their suspenders over their shirts, but as the result of agitation about the harmful effects of wearing a belt with which to support the trousers, many younger men have begun to wear invisible suspenders. These are fastened at either side of the trousers and go around each arm. The young men then wear belts more loosely around their waists.

The majority of the young men are wearing belts, some with fancy buckles with monograms and initials and others with plain buckles. Very few calls for suspenders are made by the younger men, while a corresponding number of older men never call for belts.

Ministers Here Are Not Agreed On What Is Fiction In Bible

Some Believe Implicitly in All Bible Stories While Others Hold Many of the Tales are Merely Fanciful Illustrations.

"There never was a Jonah and the whale," said one minister, "that is only a story with no basis of fact."

"My church teaches that the entire Bible is based on history," said another.

"Some people doubt the possibility of Jonah having lived in the whale, but scientists have proved that there have been whales big enough to have swallowed Jonah," said another.

"You must realize that there are all kinds of literature in the Bible and to my mind, Jonah and the whale stories and others which my reason fails to accept are not based on fact and were never meant to be taken literally."

Such were the typical statements of Appleton ministers when they were interviewed on whether they believed all the stories of the Bible to be history or some of them merely stories and traditions. The variance of opinion was remarkable and it was extremely interesting to get the different points of view of men in the pulpits of the various churches. As one Lutheran minister explained the views: "I think that you will find three camps in the matter of belief at the present time. There is the one camp which rejects everything which is not made doctrine by the authority of the church; then there is another camp which places its authority for its teachings in the scriptures and then still another which places its authority in reason. The Lutheran church is the one which places its authority in the scriptures and of course, believes that the Bible is the truth because it is the word of God."

NEVER WAS AN EDEN?

"What about the creation story?" asks the reporter and again there are all degrees of belief and disbelief. While one accepts Adam and Eve and the serpent as truth, history based on fact, another claims it to be merely the fanciful story of the writers of the Bible. The creative thinking shown in the story is valuable and when judged by the stories of the creation in other early religions, it has everything in its favor, they say. The Christian conception of the beginning of the world is a moral story while in many of the eastern cults the story is either grotesque or immoral.

"What is the value of 'Jonah and the Whale', if it isn't based on fact?" asks the reporter. It seems that these stories, according to the minister to whom the question was addressed make good examples for various activities. Now, Jonah and the whale is a splendid missionary lesson. Perhaps you, like the reporter, have forgotten all about the circumstances other than the swallowing and the trip in the whale. Jonah was told by the voice of Jehovah to go to Nineveh to warn the people against their wickedness, but Jonah fled to the boat and after they had put out to sea a terrible storm arose and they cast lots to see whose sins were bringing down the wrath of the Lord. The lot fell on Jonah and he was thrown into the sea, where the whale swallowed him and finally cast him up on the island and again he heard the voice of the Lord and went to Nineveh.

BELIEVE IN PART

And so on with many of the stories of the Bible, which are either accepted or rejected on the basis of reason. Some churches, according to the minister, allow the individual to interpret the Bible as they choose, while others accept the entire book as the word of God. Some believe that those who wrote the Bible wrote the words which came to them from a higher power, while others believe that the scribes were inspired with the truth and then wrote according to their own possibilities depending on their education and natural ability to write.

As for the minutes opinion of what the present trend is, there again there is much divergence. One man in summing up his belief said: "The average man accepts the fundamental principles of Christianity. Curious questions as to Adam, Jonah and such are left for the scholars to wrangle over, while the spiritual principles involved are accepted implicitly. Superficial ridicule of some parts of the Bible is prevalent in some circles, but there is much scholarly support for a general acceptance of the historical statements of scripture."

NEW LITERAL BELIEF

"Personally, I find that the trend of recent years has been more and more toward literal acceptance, even among the European higher critics. I believe in a strong historical foundation for scriptures and read the Bible without tearing out any pages myself."

Another man finds that he can accept much in the Bible as historical, reject a great deal and be a firm believer in evolution without being less the Christian. And the whole argument develops the fact, that some do believe the story of Jonah and others do not, but they all claim the right to be Christians and sincere Christians at that.

IF YOU MUST HAVE A LICENSE GET IT BEFORE AUGUST 1

Need Permit or License for Almost Every Activity of Life

One needs a license for almost everything these days. When a person is born, his birth must be recorded. When the lad grows up and wishes work before the law allows him to, he must first secure a permit. He needs a license if he wishes to hunt. The dog that accompanies him on the hunt must have a license. The man who goes out of the state to fish must have a license. He cannot marry unless he has a license. In some localities he must have a permit before he may build a home. He will need permits for certain lines of business. When he dies, his death must be recorded. He cannot even be buried without the necessary certificate.

Some licenses are issued by the federal government, some by the state and others by city councils. In Appleton licenses are required for operating saloons, pool and billiard parlors, theaters, second hand stores, bowling alleys, and taxicabs. Milk dealers, junk dealers, cigar merchants must also have licenses. Besides these, there are a number of permits and licenses, such as street permits and trade licenses. Carnival and peddlers licenses have not been granted by the common council for some time, although there is an ordinance permitting the issuance of these.

"I tried many remedies but none seemed to help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they afforded relief. I continued using them and was completely healed in three weeks." (Signed) Miss Nellie Gardner, R. F. D. 3, Ianta, Mo., Jan. 18, 1922.

Don't Build Blindly!

YOU would never put your money in a bank without first convincing yourself of its safety and security. Why invest your savings in a home without first investigating the relative costs of various types of construction over a period of years.

Have You Sent for These Books?

Facts vitally important for you to know before you build are brought out in these various books. They provide a most convenient way for you to get authentic information on costs, correct methods of handling the details of construction, and advantages offered by the different types. They also give you a great variety of charming home designs for which you can secure plans at nominal prices.

Investigation shows that the original cost of a Masonry-Built Home averages slightly more than for frame. But the carrying charges, which include interest, insurance, heating, upkeep, and depreciation, prove about 60% less, which during the first ten years alone far overbalances any small difference in original cost. You can not afford to neglect these facts if you plan to build.

A TRYING SITUATION

The political situation is beginning to tighten up. Many big question marks loom up to trouble the sleep of the Republican administration. It is now realized by practical politicians that the promises made in the campaign of 1920 were impossible of fulfillment and that the present chaotic condition of the country and of legislation must somehow be explained to the voters to keep them in line next November. The return to normalcy has been a task to confound even the best minds.

There is the bonus, for instance. The president says he will veto the measure which congress has before it and is likely to pass. Congress would not take him at his word when he said he would not approve any bonus which was not financed by a sales tax. It looks as though he meant what he said. What will be the effect election day on the millions of ex-service men and their friends?

There is the tariff about which the least said is the better, but which smells so high toward heaven that even the lofty nose of Senator Lodge has caught its unsavory odors. What is going to be the effect of this out-Payned and out-Al-driched tariff if the congress has the courage to enact it?

Next we find the ship subsidy horse rearing on its hind legs.

And there are the coal and rail strikes, with the country facing a desperate fuel famine and a tie-up of transportation, matters to be sure which are properly the subject of Democratic administration but which somehow strayed into the mellifluous Republican fold.

Finally, there is that yelping pup of Newberryism at the kitchen door, which persists in keeping people awake.

Indeed, it is a trying situation.

THE FINANCES OF BASEBALL

Boston and St. Louis are much excited over the exchange of players between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees. And incidentally, baseball fans of all cities are greatly exercised.

The trade looks like baseball high-finance, more than sport, and has the semblance of collusion between the Red Sox and Yankee management to strengthen the Yankee team in the crucial period of the pennant race.

Deals of this sort will do baseball no good. Baseball is recognized to be a commercialized sport, and the public concedes that those who own the clubs are entitled to profit on their investment. On the other hand, it is inconceivable that the public would continue to be interested in baseball if the national game as a sport were subordinated to baseball as a business.

The Red Sox-Yankee transaction impresses the public as being businesslike, but unsportsmanlike. It leaves a strong suspicion that the pennant can be bought and bought when the struggle for supremacy is most spirited.

The Yankee owners are building an enormous stadium. If they can win the pennant, the profits from the world's championship can be applied to their investment. This makes the trade look still worse.

Baseball is the national game. It is a sport, primarily. It is a business only that the sport may be most popular and efficient. If the sport is commercialized, it will soon cease to be either a sport or a business.

THE DAILY GRIND

The older we get, the more we realize the extreme slowness with which we accomplish anything of importance. Life is a process of grinding the ax for two hours to do 10 minutes of actual wood chopping. "The daily grind" is tedious preparation for climaxes that are brief. In civilization we have to toil all day, in order to have a few hours of leisure. Two weeks' vacation, 50 weeks of work. Voltaire knew what he was talking about when he wrote: "Time is of all things the longest and the shortest, the quickest and the slowest."

The great period of time necessary to accomplish anything was illustrated in England long ago, when coffee was introduced to that country as a beverage. The first coffee sold in England was put on the market in 1652 by Pasqua Rosee, merchant, in St. Michael's alley, Cornhill. For 20 years a campaign of great violence was conducted against coffee. English public affairs theorists were so convinced that coffee ruined the health and corrupted manners, morals and politics, that at times the authorities had to drift with the current and suppress its sale. In "The Women's Petition Against Coffee," circulated in 1674, the belief was set forth that coffee drinkers would breed a race of "apes and pygmies." English coffee merchants had to fight for 50 years to create their market. How many modern American business men would have that much patience?

Growing the crop takes a long time. The harvest is short. That is the way with nearly every human life. Fate is a jester. Usually there isn't any harvest to speak of. Decidedly is this so in the case of the man who, desiring to enjoy great wealth, wears himself out in accumulating it and wakes up at the grave's edge to find that he has the gold, but is too old to enjoy it. We are forever planning what we are going to do tomorrow or next Christmas or a year from now. Many of us live too much in a future that never comes. The future is mostly an illusion.

THE HIGHWAY PROBLEM

So far as the pleasure of driving is concerned, a good gravel or macadam road is greatly preferred. We think, by most motorists to a concrete road. The resilience of the former types of road makes them much smoother than concrete, which, as every driver knows, produces a great deal of fine vibration. A day's driving over concrete is much more tiring than a day's driving over gravel.

Nevertheless, considered from the practical standpoint, permanent, hard-surfaced highways are preferable, and in the end we shall have to come to this type of construction of all our main traveled roads. The cost of maintaining any other type is prohibitive. The traffic over our highways has already reached a point where a single season's driving will ruin the surface of the best-built gravel or stone road.

Combined with the wear and tear of rapidly driven motor cars, the elements complete the destruction of any other than hard-surfaced roads as rapidly as they can be built. In the course of a comparatively few years the original cost has been duplicated. Take the roads, for instance, between Black Creek and Shawano and in Shawanocounty. They are constantly being rebuilt and repaired. There is scarcely a season when some part of them is not closed off for reconstruction. Roads that were newly surfaced only a year or two ago are showing the effects of wear and the elements already. The season's heavy rain has all but ruined the surface dressing on many miles of this type of highway.

When gravel and macadam roads are first built they are perfect so far as driving, pleasure and comfort are concerned. But it is clear that under even the most favorable conditions they are an expensive luxury where there is considerable traffic. The cost of maintenance in the rapid development of improved highways, where any other than the permanent type is built, has become a problem of such magnitude in the aggregate that it must sooner or later be a bar to the laying down of gravel and macadam on important arteries of travel. The permanent pavement, either of brick, concrete, asphalt or some similar material, must of economic necessity replace the less durable types of roads that we have built in the past. While the original cost is much more, the cost spread over a long period of years will be much less, and we shall, moreover, have roads that will be serviceable at all times and under all conditions.

CIVILIZATION THROUGH COMMERCE

Mr. Henry Ford says: "Let me invade Mexico with factories and give the people something to do; then there will be no more war there."

Commerce undoubtedly has a civiliza-

ing influence. It keeps people out of mischief by giving work to them and making them prosperous and respectable. Ford assembling plants in the Aztec republic would help the people to help themselves. Mexico's mistake was in neglecting the people. Powerful groups and men made spoils of the land's riches and slaves of the masses. The nation decayed. Mr. Ford's idea is right. Lift the people, and the nation will have peace and prosperity.

The Athletic Heart

Training for athletic contests is largely a matter of enlarging the heart. Any athlete who acquires extraordinary endurance must have an enlarged heart. When an athlete develops "wind," as a result of careful training, he has simply developed the muscle of the right side of his heart particularly, that side which pumps the blood thru the lungs. In a hard physical strain or effort prolonged for some time, as in a football game or a marathon race or a boxing match or a mountain climb the right side of the heart is called upon to do tremendous work. If the heart has been trained for it, well and good; if the training has been sketchy, as is too often the case in high school and junior athletes, then there is danger of serious injury to the heart, which doctors call dilatation. It means the heart is overfilled with blood and the heart muscle is exhausted and unable to empty the flooded chamber. Such an injury is sometimes recovered from completely in a day or two, but in many cases the damage is not so transient and the victim becomes handicapped for an indefinite period. Indeed, sometimes the victim never again recovers sufficiently to withstand much exertion.

When a man is trained well he can put forth a degree of endurance and exhibit amount of endurance which would be utterly beyond his powers when out of training. That is because intelligent physical education increases his stock of reserve power. Each of us has a certain amount of reserve power in the heart for emergency use. Those of us who happen to have a valvular distortion (leakage) may have a little less reserve power and hence require to be more careful to avoid great strains; on the other hand those of us who are in training have augmented reserve power and may undertake efforts which would endanger one not well trained. But the reason why I hold that high school football should not be permitted—the youngster needs his reserve power for growing purposes and takes very long chances in attempting to make a noise like a college man. Track contests, short runs, jumping, vaulting, basketball, baseball, swimming, ice games are more to the high school lad's capacity. Marathon runs are far beyond his capacity and no trainer of intelligence would permit the high school lad to take part in such tests of endurance.

It is a curious thing that most athletic training in this country is in the hands of uneducated persons. Even the diet is prescribed by some rough and ready trainer who seems to be born not trained. Several with whom I have talked hadn't the faintest notion that a broken winded man or animal is one who has carried the effort so far as to strain the heart.

When an athlete rather abruptly breaks training and retires to an inactive or sedentary life, his heart is likely to trouble him—it runs a little wild every little while, like a flywheel when the belt is off. All the victim of this trouble needs is a reasonable amount of daily exercise. His heart isn't built for idleness.

Whichever of these various conditions may be called "athletic heart," heaven only knows, I don't. I reckon anything wrong with an athlete's heart is "athletic heart."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

How Flaxseed is Taken

How is flaxseed taken, whole or ground? How much and how often—Mrs. W. H.
Answer—Depends on effect sought. If you refer to the suggestion here made, that flaxseed be taken for habitual constipation, about a tablespoonful of whole flaxseeds, or perhaps less will suffice for some persons, should be taken daily, either washed down with a drink of water or mixed with your breakfast cereal when you are ready to eat it.

Chemicals in the Canned Goods

Please tell me what harm can come from using salicylic acid in canning. I have trouble in canning beans and sometimes tomatoes so they will keep. Some say a little salicylic acid will preserve them; others say it is dangerous to us.—Miss L. B. O.

Answer—If the beans or tomatoes are fit for food in the first place, and your method of canning or preserving is correct, you will need no chemical preservatives. Salicylic acid is injurious because it impairs or impedes normal digestion and sometimes irritates the stomach.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

QUESTION OF FREE SPEECH INVOLVED IN KANSAS ISSUE

Because it is accepted that there is a high constitutional question involved the majority of editors discuss the controversy between William Allen White and Governor Henry Allen of Kansas more impersonally than might have been anticipated. Of course there are some writers to whom the humor of the situation strongly appeals and they have considerable amusement in characterizing the break between "Henry and Me."

But most of the writers very frankly hold that both the right of free speech and the question of absolute freedom of the press are involved and they consider the subject from that angle.

"It certainly is no more illegal to express an opinion favoring the railroad shippers' side of the controversy than it is to express one favoring the side of the railroads," urges the Paul DISPATCH. "If it were this would not be America."

But that text which is characteristic of much of the comment, in no way appeals to Governor Allen, whose paper, the Wichita BEACON, after declaring that the sign complained of is a method of picketing adds that "the real issue has little to do with such a case as this. The real issue is whether the merchants of Kansas may help to run out of town the men who are working in the shops. This has been tried in some of the towns. On this point the people of Kansas have no doubts whatever. They are on the side of the law and they will not tolerate any encouragement of the forces that are trying to deprive them of the necessities of life." And Senator Arthur Capper's Topeka CAPITAL argues further that "the spectacular arrest of William Allen White is therefore plain warning to the strike leaders how they express sympathy for him in his bout with the law and the state. They may find themselves venturing pretty close to the sympathetic side lines and in an unhealthy proximity to the danger zone. Observing the strike for more than two weeks White may have concluded that if actual leaders could carry on their work without being molested by law enforcement, more outsiders were safe. But if so he now knows his mistake. It is a new object lesson in law enforcement."

Considering these, and all other suggested angles, the NEW YORK NEWS insists that the situation is not one lightly to be smiled over. "All America, if not the whole world," the NEWS says, "ought to know that the Kansas issue is 'built upon the interesting question' whether 'a state of the union under the pretense of enforcing the anti-picketing provisions of a labor statute, can suppress, or even abridge, the constitutionally guaranteed freedom of the press and right of free speech. If it can then we are all in a bad plight. It is a healthy and beautiful thing for the 48 states to function as so many laboratories in the testing out of governmental theories for acceptance or avoidance of all the rest. But all sovereignty comes from the people, whose liberties cannot be wiped out by legislative whim." That likewise is the view of the NEW YORK POST which suggests that "on its record Kansas should be the last state in the union to 'crib, crib and confine' free expression of opinion on matters of paramount public concern. These who truly value the Constitution of the United States accept not only its guarantee of private property but likewise its guarantee of free speech. Too many Americans insist on the one but are unwilling to be governed by the other." And the Socialistic NEW YORK CALL points out that "if the Governor wins Kansas will have a precedent in favor of permitting free utterances of opinions favoring capitalistic combinations and gagging speech in favor of labor organizations."

The humorous side of the incident appeals to many papers. Under the heading "What's the clatter in Kansas?", the Baltimore SUN suggests that the quarrel between the two leaders is "a stage quarrel, intended to prove once more that Kansas is the modern Garden of Eden, minus the serpent. Let no one be frightened. Free speech will not perish in Kansas; nor is Kansas going back to her old habit of bleeding. She is more interested these days in bleeding other people" while the Brooklyn EAGLE believes that "to be funny is not to be criminal in Kansas. On the other hand as Simpson's career, and Peffer's, and even Ingall's prove, it's the best possible qualification for election." And the Pittsburgh LEADER believes that "Henry would be better engaged trying to pull out the foundations from under the Sunflower state than to start a private fight with the people who are right as interpreted in the New York EVENING WORLD, in calling attention to the fact that 'times change and men change with them.'"

The Chicago TRIBUNE insists that "no matter what view Gov. Allen takes of the legal situation as interpreted in Kansas, the denial of the right to express opinion is despotism. It is the press privilege which despotism would like to exercise. The soviet reds are forced that rule with gun squads." Even though the law may grant the right to punish, as the Governor claims, the Springfield REPUBLICAN suggests that "the country will soon be threatened with a new variety of political prisoner if Gov. Allen sends William Allen White to jail. To enforce such a law would merely raise up 50 sympathizers where there was but one before. The last place to put William Allen White is in jail." The Rochester HERALD is convinced that "it is quite as easy for Kansas to advertise itself as a crack-brained and dangerous extremist by the excesses of bourgeoisism as it was three decades ago to acquire the same reputation through the antics of populist radicals. Indeed, that is what she is now doing."

But the Grand Rapids PRESS thinks that the construction of the law may be as displeasing to those upholding it as to its opponents and suggests that "a test case upholding the editor of the GAZETTE and voiding the section would really relieve the industrial court of a white elephant."

Victor Murdock's Wichita EAGLE assails the Allen construction of the law at considerable length and then continues:—"Seriously, aren't we drifting toward some plainly charted rocks? A certain chart, called the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the State of Kansas shows this little rock, for instance, 'Section 11. The liberty of the press shall be inviolate; and all persons may freely speak, write or publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right; and in all civil and criminal actions for libel the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it appears that the alleged libelous matter was published for justifiable ends, the accused party shall be acquitted.' It is the second clause of this sentence that is interesting in the present situation. Isn't it a rock? And are not several houses of liberty erected on that rock?"

GENERAL WRANGEL AN UNDESIRABLE

Paris—"General Wrangel's Russian army which had taken refuge in Turkey after its defeat in the Crimea, was dispersed about six or seven months ago and some of the troops took refuge in Bulgaria, and some in Jugoslavia, thanks to the allies' demand," the LE MATIN says.

"According to General Wrangel's recent declarations, Bulgaria received 17,000 soldiers, and Jugoslavia 6,000 of whom 4,000 were used to defend the Jugo Slav frontier and there are still about 2,000 soldiers of this army in Constantinople."

"General Wrangel is living with his suite at Karlovatz, near Belgrade."

"When the Russian soldiers arrived in Bulgaria and Jugoslavia, they were fully armed. They constituted a completely organized army in this country and were under sole orders of their military chiefs and General Wrangel."

"It appears now that before these soldiers arrived in Bulgaria, the government had concluded an agreement with General Wrangel which guaranteed complete independence for his army with regard to the Bulgarian authorities."

"This state of affairs naturally created an abnormal situation in Bulgaria. Besides a veritable dictatorship which General Wrangel's authorities exercised over all Russian refugees in Bulgaria and Jugoslavia—which caused vehement protestations on the part of refugees who did not want to submit to it—certain officers of his army, who enjoyed full liberty were accused by the Serbian nationalist and government press of connivance with the German monarchists."

"In Bulgaria, General Wrangel's officers were suspected of organizing an action with Bulgarian opposition parties to overthrow the present Bulgarian government. The presence of armed Russian soldiers in Bulgaria was particularly dangerous from this point of view. Bulgaria has the right to a permanent army of 35,000 men according to the Neuilly treaty. But because of the voluntary system of recruiting, imposed by this treaty Bulgaria has only been able to collect until now an army of 6,500 men and a few thousand police and the Bulgarian government had reason to fear a revolt of 17,000 Wrangel soldiers."

"Apart from this the presence of Russian armies in Bulgaria and Jugoslavia put the governments of these countries in an awkward position with regard to the Soviet government which accused them of supporting an army hostile to the Bolsheviks on their territory, and of preparing an action against Soviet Russia. This was particularly awkward at the time of the opening of the International Genoa conference. The British government found it necessary to send a note to the Jugo-Slav government before the opening of the conference demanding the removal of the Russian army and of General Wrangel from Jugo-Slavia. Also the Soviet government of the Ukraine sent an ultimatum to Sofia demanding the disarmament of Russian soldiers in Bulgaria."

Finally the suspicions of the Bulgarian government having been raised, the Bulgarian police seized some documents in the Hotel Continental at Sofia, where the Russian officers were living. The officers involved in the affair, among whom were Colonel Samokhvaloff, and the generals Chatloff, Vagmitanoff and Popoff were sent out of the country."

This business gave the Bulgarian communist party a good opportunity of protesting against the presence of Wrangel's soldiers in Bulgaria. Meetings were organized by this party throughout Bulgaria, which caused disorders and tumults in several towns, especially in Sofia because the Russian soldiers, the population and the Bulgarian authorities. In consequence of these incidents, the international commission in agreement with the Bulgarian government has ordered the disarmament and the immediate removal of the Russian army from Bulgaria."

"As to the Russian army in Jugo-Slavia, we hear that the Belgrade government also decided to have them leave the country and according to Serbian papers General Wrangel has been asked to leave Jugo-Slavia."

Sentiment in Street Names

To the Editor of the Post-Crescent—In regard to the proposed changing of the names of Appleton streets for the purpose of helping tourists to find their way, I was impressed by an article in the Atlantic Monthly for August entitled "Change Cars at Paoli" which says—"The complaint which is frequently brought against us as a nation is that we are not interesting. 'It is a wonderful country but not interesting,' so Matthew Arnold said when he was here, and he continued 'The very names of your towns and streets are lacking in distinction and suggest nothing: Washington is beautiful, some day it will be a magnificent city, but fancy living at 17th and K Streets!'"

The streets in the cities of Europe have borne the same names for centuries and for that very reason they are dear to us. Take for instance the Appleton Way, a street famous before the birth of Christ. Who would wish to have it re-christened First Street? Or to have the historic Strand called M Street? As for making a street car of London passing through that city from east to west and which bears the different appellations of High Street, Oxford Road, Oxford St. New Oxford, St. Holborn, High Holborn, Newgate St. and Chancery Lane. And the great Ringstrasse in Vienna which has nine or ten different names? Do tourists find difficulty in locating places on these streets?

If the streets must be re-named, why not teach history by naming them after great events, or historic characters? In Italy, I will venture to say that there is not a village or town without its Victor Emmanuel Avenue or its 20th of September Street, while France abounds in Fourteenth of July Streets. Some of the streets of Appleton bear names of historic interest, such as Union Street, and Bateman Street, the latter recalling old Square Bateman and his brother "Blindman Bateman" both familiar figures here half a century ago. Green Bay Street should be changed to Green Bay Road. Many of the towns north of Chicago have a Green Bay Road and they are in fact a part of the old Green Bay stage road, as is our Green Bay Street. But let us not keep such names as Main Street, Center St., Pearl St., Summer, Spring and Commercial Streets. Why not commemorate some of the great Frenchmen who have made our Valley Historic? Fathers Marquette and Allouez, Nicolet and DeLanglade, the bravest of the brave? If we are going to make Appleton a city to be proud of, we must not make the mistake of giving meaningless names to our streets. And after all, the best way to make it easy for tourists to find their way, is to mark the names plainly at all corners with the names in plain sight and not on the sidewalks where they are buried under snow for five months of the year. Much expense would be involved in changing the names and numbers of our streets. Would not this money be better expended on our new Junior High Schools?

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. Do more white people die of sleeping sickness than negroes? R. McI.

A. The Census Bureau says that in 1920, 1,453 whites died of the disease, and only 52 negroes. Among the whites this was a rate of 1.8 per 100,000 population and among the negroes 0.7.

Q. How far may dust be carried in the air? I. M. C.

A. Dust from the eruption of Krakatoa in 1883 circled the globe several times and for two years it gave rise to extraordinary sunset glows and other remarkable optical phenomena. The finest particles are believed to have been raised to an altitude of 50 miles and to have remained buoyed up by air currents for several years. In 1901, dust from the Algerian desert was carried a maximum distance of 2,500 miles. Clouds from the Chicago fire reached the Azores 40 days after the outbreak of the conflagration.

Q. How much is the Woolworth Building worth? C. L. D.

A. The New York Department of Taxes and Assessments says that the property is valued for the year 1922 at $12,500,000. Of this sum $3,850,000 is the valuation of the land.

Q. What is the meaning of the phrase "due process of law"? T. B.

A. The constitutions of the various states and the Federal Constitution contain no description of those processes which it was intended to allow or forbid by the various uses of the expression "due process of law." It is generally held to mean, however, law in its regular course of administration through courts of justice.

Q. What is the smallest wire known? C. H. E.

A. By the device of coating a platinum wire one-hundredth of an inch in diameter with silver, drawing the two metals out together as fine as possible, and then dissolving away the silver coating with nitric acid, a platinum wire three one-hundred-thousandths of an inch in diameter has been secured—so fine that one mile of it would weigh only one twenty-fifth of a grain.

Q. How many telephones are there in North America? G. M.

A. There are approximately 15,000,000 telephones on this continent.

Q. What is the difference between drilling and boring? P. L.

A. In machine shop parlance, drilling is making a "round hole through metal or the like with a rotating pointed tool that forces its way through by pressure and rotation, while boring is enlarging a hole that already exists. Cutting a circular hole in wood with a brace and bit, as done by carpenters, is boring, but a similar operation in metal is drilling.

Q. What is a "dutch concert"? M. W. W.

A. A dutch concert is a social entertainment in which every man sings his own song at the same time that his neighbor is singing his, or in which each person present sings in turn one verse of any song he pleases, some well known choruses being used as a burden after each verse.

Q. How much heat does the human body generate? R. E. M.

A. Taking the weight of the average man at 140 pounds, he gives off 336 to 400 English Thermal Units per hour when at rest, 358 to 473 when in easy action and 525 to 735 when at hard work.

Q. What river has the greatest amount of commerce? W. W.

A. The tonnage passing through the Detroit River, which connects Lake Erie and Lake Saint Clair, exceeds in volume that passing through any other river in the world.

Q. What is ferro-chrome used for? C. C. G.

A. Ferro-chrome is an alloy of iron and chromium used in steel-making.

RELEASE ALLEGED "AD" SWINDLERS

Man Alleged to be Defrauded
Declines to Push Charge

Unwillingness on the part of A. K. Ellis, general manager of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co., to prosecute Edward J. Turck, Green Bay, and C. J. Croke, who were arrested Tuesday for falsely obtaining money under false pretenses, has resulted in their conditional release. Mr. Ellis said that he had no desire to see the men sent to the penitentiary, but would cause to prosecute if they would pay him back the $25 they are alleged to have defrauded him of. They were charged with accepting advertisements from merchants for a fake labor day program.

The cases of Croke and Turck have been adjourned until Oct. 2, and the men have been released from the county jail under $250 bonds. David Silber, Milwaukee, the driver for the quartet, was released at once by the police, as he had merely been hired by the others to drive them about. Edward Voss, Sheboygan, was later freed for lack of incriminating evidence. It was also brought out in the hearing before Judge Spencer that this was Croke's first offense. Action on the part of the court time and Mrs. Ethel Pomeroy Bulton of Hood River, Ore., will join her two sisters. Household Hints

BELTLESS GOWNS

Beltless gowns are growing in favor. They are shown in fall as well as summer fabrics.

MILLINERY

Little tabs and ears protruding from turbans give them the modern desirable in fall millinery. Elaborate facings are used.

FEATURING BROWN

A smart frock is of cream-colored crepe with coin dots of dull brown and sashes of brown grosgrain ribbon.

COLORED STITCHING

Colored stitching is used to trim many frocks and blouses. Red on bisque, blue on white and purple on lavender are popular combinations.

COLOR RANGE

Shades ranging from palest peach to deepest orange were the predominating color note of the gowns worn at the recent charity ball given by Princess Mary at the Royal Albert Hall, London. Most of the gowns were on simple draped lines and reached to the ankles.

NATURE FACTS AND FREAKS

MIGRATION OF BUTTERFLIES

By Prof. M. J. Elrod

Most people are familiar with bird migration, but few are familiar with similar gregarious habits of butterflies, which though less frequent, are fully as interesting, and quite unexplainable.

During migration the air will be filled with millions of individuals of one species, all flying in the same direction. W. G. Wright describes a migration lasting eleven days, covering all southern California, when the migration was northward, over a known distance of some 1,400 miles, as far as Canada.

The migration southward of the milkweed butterfly, which ranges from Patagonia to Hudson Bay, has been noted by many observers. Maurice Ricker reports them in 1905 so abundant at Burlington, Iowa, that thousands were seen on one tree. They have been reported so numerous as to give color to the trees on which they rest.

Dr. S. H. Scudder described a September flight in New Hampshire, when they extended in a thin stream that required hours for passing.

C. L. Hopkins described a "swarming" of the California tortoiseshell on Mount Shasta in August, 1889. They were in continuous flight for nearly five hours, at between 11,000 and 12,000 feet.

It seems incredible that such frail things could travel in such numbers and over such distances.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Margery Newton of Waupun to Francis Rosecrance of Milwaukee took place on Saturday, July 22 at the home of the bride's parents in Waupun. Both young people were members of the class of 1920 from Lawrence college and were well known in Appleton. Miss Newton was a member of Delta Gamma sorority and Mr. Rosecrance of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The couple will live in Milwaukee.

PICNICS

Over the Tea Cups club had its annual picnic at the cottage of Mrs. W. H. Kellan at Lockhurst on Friday. Luncheon was served to 22 guests. Mrs. Charles Marston was the assisting hostess. Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. H. J. Zoon, Wilmet; Mrs. R. H. Kuehnmated, Chicago; Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Dayton, O. and Mrs. Fonda of Pasadena.

DESIGNATE AUGUST 6 AS FRIENDSHIP DAY

What with Mothers day, Fathers day, Baby week, Childrens week, lace week and linoleum week, Fourth of July and Christmas, the year seemed pretty well filled up with occasions, but now Aug. 6 has come into prominence. It has been set aside as Friendship day, the day on which to remember a few old friends and let them know that you are still up and coming.

The day has not become as well known as many of the others which have been commemorated for a longer time, but the sentiment has appealed to many. About the only day that has not set aside is Relatives day. Those of you who have wealthy ones would probably think it a good idea. The rest of you, whose second cousins and step aunts are as poor as Job's turkey would probably prefer to save the postage money for the rainy day.

Whom Shall Mollie Marry?

Chapter 20 — Stop or I'll Shoot!

The very world seemed to crumble as Mollie heard the order—the driver to stop in their race to save—perhaps—Ben Wheeler's life.

"Oh, Billy, Billy—don't let me!" Billy dropped back into his seat and waved the chauffeur to go on—"and hurry."

It was Billy who broke the tension. "Well, what did you expect of me, Mollie? Isn't it more than human for me to break my neck trying to save a man who's breaking me?"

"Yes, Billy, it certainly is." Weariness of soul was in her voice. "I suppose I expected a bit of bigness from someone. I'm so tired of everybody hating everybody."

"And I, being the aggrieved one, must be a better Christian than the man who smites me!"

"Not because you're the aggrieved one, but because you're the more civilized, Billy—the finer the bigger."

The half-spoken reproach ended their personal talk. Billy kept the silence of bitterness. Mollie did not feel contrite.

The cab swung into the yards of the Wheeler Works and stopped at the door of the main office just as another taxi rolled off.

"Don't here!" cried Mollie, her eyes wide with fright.

Together they hurried toward Ben's private office.

Mollie opened the door and stepped in, Billy behind her. Ben Wheeler looked up sharply.

"Ben, has Donald Manning been here?" Mollie asked breathlessly. Ben shook his head. His eyes were cold and puzzled.

"Then see it—leave word outside that he's not to be admitted. Please, Ben!" She knew her man.

"And why?"

"Because—oh, because he's furious—means to hurt you maybe—Ben chuckled in derision.

"What's this, a comic scene? I'd look funny, weight 190, telling my watchman to keep out a lady-like young gentleman for fear he'll hurt me!"

"Weight! Won't stop a bullet, Wheeler!" Billy snapped. "Do as she tells you, you vain fool!"

Wheeler whirled toward Billy. "I suppose you were let in because you were with Mollie. Well, you can go now—get out before I—"

"Oh, Ben, stop!" Mollie's voice rose to a shriek of desperation. "I hear—"

"It's only I!"

And Mollie strangled a cry as Don Manning appeared in the doorway and closed the door behind him. One hand, the right, was in his coat pocket, almost jauntily. With the other he motioned Mollie and Billy aside.

Ben stepped toward him, jerking his head doggedly.

"Stop where you are!" cried Don. "unless you want me to shoot."

Adventures Of The Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

The Fairy Council

Nancy and Nick are Twins. One time the Fairy Queen gave them each a pair of Green Shoes, which were magical. These shoes could take the Twins anywhere on the earth or off of it, indeed, for that matter. They could go anywhere in the sky or in Fairyland by just wishing.

They had many wonderful adventures and proved a great help to the Fairy Folk who looked after the Fairy Queen's Nine Hundred and Ninety-Nine Kingdoms, from helping Mr. Rubadub to spring-clean the birds and animals, to assisting Mr. Spring-Blow in making up the weather in the sky.

Their last adventure was to settle a dispute between the Diddyevers and the Korsknots in Fairyland where a wicked Sorcerer, called Twelve Toes, had caused trouble.

Now they have returned home over the Seven Mountains and the Seven Valleys and are greeted by the Fairy Queen in her Palace where they relate their adventures.

Their next adventure is to be "A Trip to the Moon."

The Fairy Queen was waiting for the Twins when they arrived at her Palace after a quick trip over the Seven Mountains. They just wished themselves back and whizz—they were there.

Everybody crowded around to hear the news, first of all their old friend, the Magical Mushroom, who had gone with the children on so many of their travels. Then there was Mr. Rubadub, and fat Mr. Tingling, and thin Mr. Scribble-Scratch, and funny Mr. Flippety-Flop, and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, and Cap'n Penny-winkle, who had come on business from his country under the sea.

Indeed, all of the Fairy Queen's helpers were there, all ears to hear about the Twins' last wonderful adventure. You know they had been to the Land of the Diddyevers and the Korsknots to settle some trouble about two kings.

"You are certainly wonderful children!" smiled the good Queen. "Whatever would I do without you? I hope you didn't have very much trouble. Are you tired?"

"Not a bit!" declared Nancy. "Goodness no!" said Nick. "It was a lot of fun. Old Twelve Toes the Sorcerer did all he could to stop us, but our magic beat his every time."

"Would you like to help me some more?" said the Fairy Queen, thoughtfully.

"Oh, yes, indeed," cried both Twins together. "Do you have any other errand?"

"Yes," answered the Queen. "I have just had word from Mr. Peernub, the Man-in-the-Moon, that he's so busy this spring he can't get along without help. The four winds are very handy and do all they can, but what with some folks wanting full moon, some wanting it dark, some wanting a wet moon, and some wanting it dry, even the winds aren't enough. He'd be ever so glad to have you for a while, I'm sure."

"Then we'll go," answered Nick. "won't we Nancy?"

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."

—Mrs. ADRIAN TOMSBECK, 10557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsbeck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsbeck's experience should guide you towards health.

CALL ON KAUKAUNA FOLKS TO SUPPORT THEIR CHAUTAUQUA

Interesting Programs Are Offered in Municipal Playground This Week

Kaukauna—A plea for support of the community to insure the financial success of the chautauqua this year was made at the program on municipal playgrounds Friday evening. Mr. Hagman, president of the guarantors, who have taken the responsibility of furnishing the funds, asked the audience to assist in getting people to attend. While there is as yet no indication that the venture is a failure, Mr. Hagman said that a few hundred dollars taken in by the sale of tickets would make prospects much brighter.

An interesting musical program was given by the Gravin trio and William Rogerson, tenor. Two lecturers were given by Randall Parish, writer and author.

The Chicago Light Opera Co. will feature Sunday's program, afternoon and evening. There will be a concert in the afternoon a comic opera in the evening.

Saturday's program includes lectures by Major Joseph R. Hanly, who is said to possess special force and power as a speaker. The entertainment will be offered by the Lombards, including musical and novelty number. Impersonations, readings and sketches also form part of a varied program.

Monday will be the last day and community day. A picnic will be held on the grounds. A program will be given by local talent and a children's pageant will be presented. In addition an interesting program of music, reading and magic will be presented.

PREPARE SECOND DISTRICT SCHOOLS FOR COMING TERM

Repairs and Redecorating Occupies Summer in Three Buildings

Public schools in the second district are being thoroughly renovated and some of the rooms are being painted preparatory to the opening of the fall school term. The entire lighting system in the Franklin, Columbus and Lincoln schools is being changed. In September when the pupils gather once more they will find four or five drop lights in each room in place of the three light cluster which now adorns the center of the ceiling. Four lights will be hung from advantageous positions for the benefit of the children and one will hang over the teacher's desk and will be on a separate switch. Each drop will be entirely encased to prevent glare and will hold a bulb of 100 watts or more.

An order has also been placed to furnish new window curtains for Franklin school. They will be of the new style translucent curtain which can be drawn to shut out the glare without interfering with the light. Paint is being applied to various rooms in each school. In general the rooms will be much lighter. In Franklin school the kindergarten, third grade and manual training rooms are being painted. In the Columbus school the first grade room and in the Lincoln school the fourth and seventh grade rooms are being painted and redecorated. Lavatories in all schools also are receiving light paint or white wash.

HONDURAS IS BUILDING SPLENDID MOTOR ROAD

Special to Post-Crescent
Tegucigalpa, Honduras—The new motor highway across Honduras from ocean to ocean will be finished within three months.

It runs from San Lorenzo, on the Pacific to Tegucigalpa 130 miles; then to Comayagua 103 miles, then to Siguatepeque 40 miles; then to Lake Yojoa 42 miles; then to Potrerillos 50 miles. Work is also in progress on another highway to unite San Pedro Sula, important city on the Atlantic coast, with the territory bordering on the Salvador frontier, a distance of about 300 miles. Several other roads for motor traffic in the interior also have been started.

As there are no railroads in this country except on the Atlantic littoral, all traffic is now changing from the old fashioned ox-carts to motor cars and trucks.

THOMPSON MADE VALLEY SOO HEAD

Officers in Appleton, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Green Bay and Shawano will be under his supervision. Joseph R. Coyle, Menasha, has been appointed assistant freight and passenger agent of the Twin Cities to relieve Mr. Thompson of part of his duties. The latter will retain charge of the Twin City stations.

George L. Sweetman will continue in charge here as local freight and passenger agent.

ASKS REMOVAL OF ALL STANDING BARS

Enforcement of the provision of the Severson prohibition act which forbids the maintenance of a standing bar in licensed places of Wisconsin has been asked of Fred V. Heinemann, district attorney, by W. Stanley Smith, state prohibition commissioner. The validity of the law having been sustained by the Supreme court, Mr. Smith requests the cooperation of all district attorneys to secure its enforcement.

An active drive will be made by prohibition enforcement officers to remove what they regard as an obstacle in the way of efficient enforcement. It is maintained that the standing bar shields the bartenders as it makes it possible for them to introduce intoxicants into so-called soft drinks without being observed. In the event of a raid it is also said to afford an opportunity to throw away intoxicating liquor. The law prohibits drinking before bars or their maintenance and in the opinion of the Supreme court they must be removed.

Police Want Uniform System For Numbering And Naming Streets

Chief Prim Believes Present Names Should Be Retained But Duplications Should Be Eliminated.

"Officer, will you please tell me where Jardin-st. is?" That is a typical question asked by strangers in almost any city. Among many questions a policeman is expected to answer are those pertaining to street locations. Visitors as a rule do not wish to be recognized as strangers and therefore, rather than ask a bystander will ask a blue coat to be directed, according to Chief George T. Prim. Indeed, girls welfare societies will caution girls against asking directions of anyone except a policeman.

If the above question were directed to an Appleton policeman he might be able to answer it at once. If he were an experienced man. He would probably answer it much more readily. If the street were named Spring-st. of which the former is a part, just as DeForest-st. is an extension of the same street on the west end of the city.

For such reasons as these Chief Prim is a strong supporter of a uniform street name system. He says, he does not see how any one could oppose a plan of retaining but one name for a street instead of calling the same street by three or four names.

Yet of the several plans that have thus far been suggested by different persons and published in the Post-Crescent, the Appleton police chief prefers the system proposed by the city engineer.

The system of numbered streets and avenues has its good points, he admits, but he believes it would be confusing in that a good number of persons would constantly be mistaking a numbered street for a numbered avenue. Visitors in Milwaukee frequently board an Eighth-st. car instead of Eighth-ave. car. People made similar mistakes in Chicago, the chief said, when that city still had both the numbered streets and numbered avenues.

"Appleton now has a Second-st. and a Second-ave," said Mr. Prim. "It happens quite regularly that people will mistake one for the other. There would be a great deal more trouble if we had a large number of duplicate street names. Chicago tried out this plan but found it necessary to go back to the old plan and so changed Fifth-ave. to Wells-st., Thirty-second-ave. to Kedzie, Fortieth-ave. to Crawford.

"If the city would keep the names we have, but do away with the extra names for one street, and then adopt a house number system of 100 numbers to a block and prefix all streets east and west of Oneida-st. and north and south of College-ave. and then erect street signs at all intersections, we would have a system that ought to satisfy most of us."

APPLETON FAILS TO REACH POSTAL SAVINGS QUOTA

Oshkosh Ranks Exceedingly High in Sale of Treasury Certificates

Appleton ranked eleventh in the cities of a population between 20,000 and 30,000 in the district for the amount of United States treasury certificates sold in the last half year, the treasury department has notified Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. The district comprises the states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana and Illinois. Oshkosh had an unusually high record in the sale of certificates during April and May, that city ranking fourth in the entire district, being exceeded only by Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee. Sales in Appleton for the half year totaled $25,258. The quota for this city, however, is $135,000. Most of the cities, Mr. Zuehlke said, are below the mark.

The government is leaving no stone unturned in endeavoring to induce the people to invest in treasury certificates, Mr. Zuehlke said. They are not only profitable but sound, as they are backed by the strength of the nation. Certificates are issued in denominations of $20, $50 and $100, yielding 4 1/2 per cent interest, compounded semiannually. They are redeemable after five years or can be redeemed before that time at 3 1/2 per cent interest, compounded semiannually. A systematic way of saving, he said, is purchasing postal saving stamps at 10 cents each or treasury saving stamps at $1 each, which do not bear interest, but can be converted into savings certificates when they reach an amount of $20.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
What horrible and mysterious power was forcing the three Drake brothers.
HOBART, Wall Street broker
ROGER, eminent scientist
ANDREW, recently returned from Australia to place themselves in ridiculous situations? Some power had forced Hobart to deliver a mock address in the public square. Roger to burlesque a scientific address and Andrew to sit on the parlor floor and play with toys. The three appear terror-stricken and without their knowledge.

PATRICIA DRAKE daughter of Hobart secures
OWEN MILES detective sergeant, and his colleague
SCOTTIE McREADY to investigate. Miles is employed as a houseman and Scottie as a gardener. Following a series of mysterious events Patricia suddenly disappears—an event which Miles cannot understand as he and Patricia were in each other's confidence. Possibly the attempt of her spinster aunt
MISS JERUSA DRAKE to break up a love affair with RICHARD KEMP has been the cause. Miles is suddenly summoned by Hobart Drake.

GO ON WITH STORY
"William, I want you to take this letter to the home of Mr. Martin Kemp and deliver it to his son Mr. Richard, personally. Be sure that you give it to no one else. If he asks you any questions tell him merely I said it was a matter of the utmost importance but do not mention the fact that Miss Patricia has gone away. I think that I can trust you."

"Yes, sir."
A trim-looking parlormaid opened the door of the Kemp bungalow in answer to his summons but shook her head when he asked for Mr. Richard. "He's gone out motoring with the family and they won't be home until late this afternoon. They didn't say where they were going."

"Maybe you could leave the message with me and I'll give it to Mr. Richard?"
"No I have orders to deliver it myself. I ought to have brought it to Mr. Richard last night."
"He wasn't here. He had to take his mother to a theater party in the city. For Mr. Kemp wouldn't go himself. They never got back till half past one. Who shall I tell Mr. Richard it was that sent you here?"
"Just say William had a message for him and he'll know," Miles smiled meaningly.

Miles returned with all haste to the Drake house and placed the letter again in Hobart's hands.
"Young Mr. Kemp took his mother to a theater party in town last evening, too, sir," he added. "They didn't get home till after one o'clock. I thought I had better tell you everything the maid said."

"Young Kemp was at the theater, you say—Don't go. I want to think for a minute." Hobart turned and began slowly to pace the floor and it seemed to the detective that the assurance of Dick's alibi had fallen upon him like a blow. Then he sat down and wrote rapidly.
"I want you to go to this address and present this note to Mr. John Wells," said Hobart.

"Yes, sir," Miles replied, glancing at the envelope. It bore an address on West End avenue. "Will there be any answer?"
"I will leave that to Mr. Wells. Be sure that you see him personally."
Wells was seated in his study and there seemed to be an added grimness about his mouth as he greeted the detective.

"I was expecting you."
"Mr. Drake telephoned?"
"No."
"Then you know what has occurred? Do you mean that you have heard from Miss Patricia Drake herself?"

"Exactly," Wells nodded and taking from the drawer a crumpled twist of paper he held it out to the detective. "See what you can make of that while I read what Hobart has to say about the matter."

The paper was of poor texture, limp and grimy and as he smoothed it Miles saw that it was lined not only across the page but vertically at each side. It appeared to be a fragment torn from a larger sheet and the few sentences hastily scrawled upon it in soft blue crayon were so hurried and smudged as to be almost illegible.
"Dear Mr. Wells
Have promised man who brings this that you will give him five dollars and ask no questions. You will harm all of us if you do. I have left home but am safe. Don't look for me, will explain when I can. Tell Mr. Kemp at work without fail but no one else must know you have heard from me. This is vital for everyone's sake. Warn Mr. Kemp out for tattooed arm. Pat."
"What time did you receive it and what did you do when it came, Mr. Wells?"

"What she asked?" The attorney shrugged. "About ten o'clock this morning the man presented himself and I went out to the vestibule to give him the money personally and have a look at him. He was a rough-looking character but respectful enough."
"What did he say?" Miles asked.
"Was his manner furtive and did he appear in a hurry to be gone?"
"On the contrary. He was brisk and business-like as if he had come upon an every-day errand and he exhibited neither curiosity nor hesitation. Did you see the young lady's note, sir?" he asked. "If you're Mr. Wells, he said there would be something coming to me." I admitted my identity, handed him a five-dollar bill and watched him go off down the street. On snap judgment he might have been a porter, mechanic—you know the type. But what do you make of the letter?"

"The letter was not written under compulsion, that is self-evident," replied Miles. "She left the house of her own free will without taking me into her confidence. Indeed, I have reason to think that she had an appointment with someone who waited outside the gate to aid her in her flight and it could not have been the young man who is in love with her, for his presence elsewhere has been established."

"What can be the meaning of her reference to a tattooed arm?"
"When we have learned that, Mr. Wells," responded Miles, "we will be on our way toward dispelling the nightmare of grotesque horror which hangs over the Drake family. Our young client has stumbled upon the path to the truth."

CHAPTER XI
The result of a brief conference was that Sergeant Miles should engage a friend Zorn, a private detective, to work out the disappearance of Patricia. This would enable Miles to remain at Brookline in his capacity of houseman and unknown to Hobart keep in touch with Patricia's disappearance.

Before Zorn arrives Mr. Wells, remarked Miles, "I wish you would tell me something about the early history of the family. What was the original sum which each of them inherited? From whence did it come?"

"From a distant cousin of their mother in England. He had owned or been interested in a South African diamond mine. If I remember correctly and died leaving no other heirs. I was not the attorney for the family at the time but later when Hobart and then Jerusha placed portions of their inheritance in my hands for investment, I learned that they had never seen this cousin but had kept up a desultory sort of correspondence with him since their mother's death and I do not know whether they all shared alike under this will or not."

"But what has all this to do with the test you propose making? What has it to do with Patricia's warning about a tattooed arm?"

Miles was saved the necessity of a reply by the entrance of the servant who announced Mr. David Zorn. The latter proved to be a fair-haired immaculately attired young man with an expression of polite boredom in his sleepy blue eyes.

"Sorry I could not get here before, Sergeant. You mentioned a—little proposition over the phone."

"To be brief, Mr. Zorn, a young lady of eighteen who lives with her father a maiden aunt and two bachelor uncles in a Long Island suburb has left her home under mysterious circumstances in which however we are satisfied no romance is involved. Her father has asked me to engage a private detective to locate her, but we are, at the request of the young lady herself and without his knowledge or that of his sisters or brothers investigating a certain matter which threatens them. The position which Sergeant Miles and I have taken is this: the young lady must be located at the earliest possible moment but not disturbed if she is in safe hands, and we do not want her father informed of her whereabouts, although he must be persuaded upon to take no further step on his own initiative. Do I make myself clear?"

"Perfectly." The drawl was gone from Zorn's voice. "When did the young lady disappear, Mr. Wells and in what manner?"

The attorney turned to Miles, who quickly recounted the circumstances. "This letter is self-explanatory," he added. "But can you think of any legitimate occupation which would take a homesick city young man out into the country on short trips at night?"

"The first supposition which occurs to me is that the fellow might be a helper on a moving van," replied Zorn.

"Exactly," Miles cried triumphantly. "Now study the scrap of paper on which the message is written."

Zorn took up the letter, read it carefully twice and then carried it together with the magnifying glass, to the nearest window.

"You are right, Sergeant. This paper has been torn from the blank page of a receipt book. The smudges are from carbon paper and the indentation give us a fragmentary clue to the name and address of the last person to whom delivery was made—Mrs. Ja-Sloc-Gombe Road—Kside, New Jer— For argument's sake, let us say that 'Mrs. Ja' is Mrs. Jason or James Slocum of something combe Road Brookside—if such a place exists—New Jersey. That will give us a starting point."

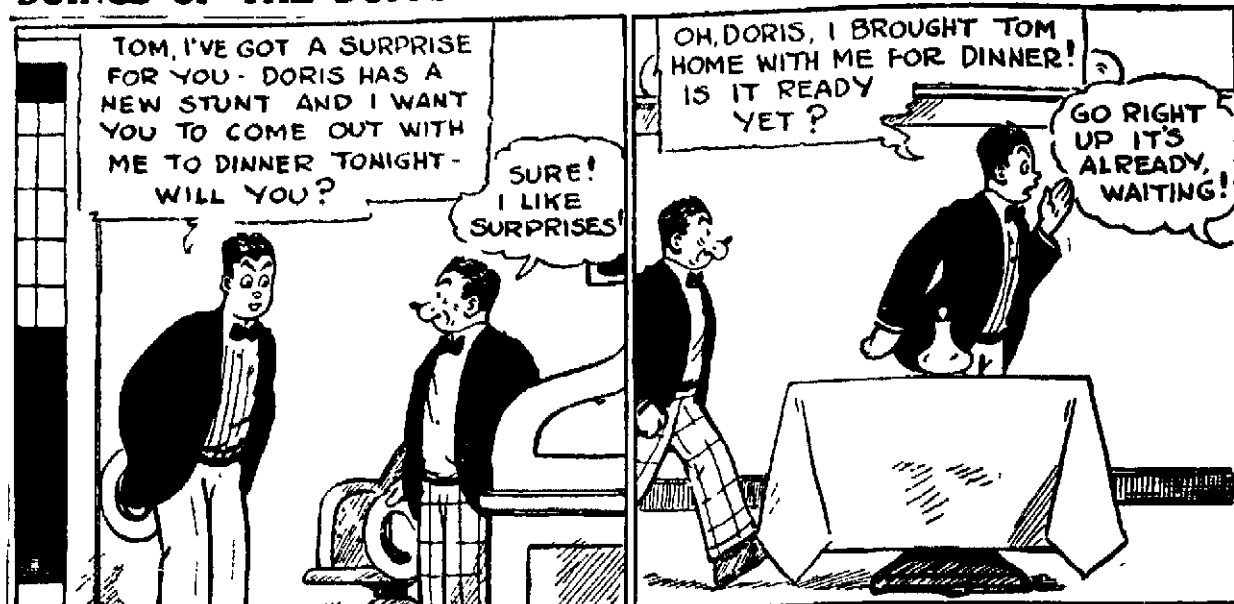

"Yes. It is my theory that she must have stopped on the van on the road and arranged with one of those moving men to bring the note here as soon as they reached the city. We have reason to believe that she has gone to none of her friends, although it is barely possible that she may have taken refuge with a Miss Millie Armitage, Lane's End, Oyster Bay."

CHAPTER XII
Miles saw nothing of Scottie until they met in the servant's dining room when the latter muttered:
"Come to my room lad, when you're free. I've a curious bit of news for you."

GREEN BAY OUSTED FROM FOX RIVER VALLEY LEAGUE

Sheboygan Is Given Baymen's Franchise; Howard Is Suspended

Appleton Plays Neopit Indian Team Here Sunday Afternoon—Green Bay Fired for Violating League Rules.

ROD AND REEL

By DIXIE CARROLL

Green Bay was ousted from the Fox River Valley Baseball league by its directors at a meeting at Kaukauna Friday night for alleged violation of league rules and as a result the Appleton team is without a league game for Sunday afternoon. Sheboygan has been given the Green Bay franchise and will play Green Bay's schedule for the remainder of the season, beginning with Sunday, Aug. 6. Sheboygan will enter the league with Green Bay's average in the percentage column.

Earl Howard, Appleton's pitcher, was indefinitely suspended for playing with the Green Bay club without first securing permission from the Appleton owners.

A game has been arranged with the Neopit Indians for here Sunday afternoon. Neopit has a strong team, it is said. It is not definitely known who will pitch for Appleton.

It was impossible for Sheboygan to pick up Green Bay's schedule tomorrow because it had a game scheduled and cancellation was difficult. Manager Leibel of the Chair City team has been eager to get into the league all season and he grasped the present opportunity without hesitation.

Action of the league directors came as a shock to almost every fan in the circuit. It was believed the machinery was operating smoothly but last week there was a rumbling of dissatisfaction because Green Bay was alleged to be playing men who were on the ineligible list of organized ball. The sore spot came to a head Thursday when it was announced that Earl Howard, Appleton's pitching star, was to be used against the Kenosha Summons Bad Co. in an exhibition game. Howard was signed for the game without Appleton's consent and this consent never would have been given if permission had been asked.

Appleton baseball followers were indignant when it was learned that Howard would pitch against Kenosha. Dozens of protests were registered because they feared Howard would exert himself so much in that game that he would not be in shape for Sunday's battle against Green Bay. Directors of the league also felt it was unfair for Green Bay to use Appleton's pitcher three days before he was scheduled to pitch against Green Bay and this militated against the Bay magnates at the Kaukauna meeting.

Here is the statement issued following the directors' meeting: "At a meeting of the board of directors at Kaukauna Friday night the franchise of the Green Bay club was taken away because the club was charged with violating the rules of the league in playing Earl Howard who had a contract to pitch for Appleton. Howard was indefinitely suspended."

"The Green Bay trouble has been brewing for two weeks. It started two weeks ago when Green Bay played Steele against Fond du Lac and came to a head when Earl Howard was placed on its pitching staff without the consent of the Appleton club."

Billy Liebl, veteran pilot of the Sheboygan club for many years, got on the wife after the Green Bay franchise was declared vacant and agreed to place a team in Sheboygan. Sheboygan has been playing independent ball this season.

"The directors in their statement following the meeting made it emphatic that it was the action of those directing the Green Bay interests and not the attitude of the fans there that made them take the step. Green Bay has been a great drawing card on its home lot and the Green Bay fans the most impartial in the league."

"The directors took another important step when they decided to line up definitely with organized baseball. Hereafter players on the blacklist of organized baseball will be ineligible to play in the Valley wheel."

All the other teams will play their regularly scheduled games on Sunday. Kaukauna will go to Oshkosh and Fond du Lac will travel to Menasha. Oshkosh, Menasha and Kaukauna are tied for second place in the league.

TO HOLD BICYCLE RACE IN OSHKOSH

Oshkosh—A nine-mile bicycle race for merchandise prizes, donated by local merchants, will be held over the Jackson street road course next Sunday, starting at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The event will be from Gillingham's corner to the fair grounds at Jackson and Murdoch streets. Besides the merchandise, the trophy cup donated by the R. B. Anger company is to be offered and the winner will be declared city champion. Those planning to enter are to get in touch with Karl Oaks and Guy Brundage, promoters of the event. Motion pictures of the race are to be taken.

Minneapolis—Miss "Bobs" Waldner of Winnetka, Ill., won the women's singles tennis championship of the northwest.

Moulton—Johnny Dundee, out-pointed Kid Koester in a 12 round bout.

Best Trio Of Athletics

During the first two months of the American League race the remarkable showing of the Athletics was the sensation of the circuit. Mack's team, generally picked by the experts to finish last, was in the first division practically all the way.

While the Athletics are slowly seeking their level, due to erratic pitching, yet the club has three players who have done noble work in making Mack's club a much talked about aggregation.

The hitting of "Bing" Miller and his general all-round play has been a distinct feature. Secured from Washington he was labeled just an ordinary player, but under the tutelage of Mack he has developed into a star.

A year ago "Chick" Galloway was regarded as a brilliant but erratic fielder and a weak hitter. This year Galloway seemed to find himself in the field he has performed not only consistently, but brilliantly. While on the offense he has ranked second to Miller.

Ed Rommel has been the second pitcher on the Mack staff that has performed consistently. His pitching average at the close of the season is certain to be far in advance of the one that his club will attain.

ST. LOUIS AND NEW YORK EACH TAKE ONE GAME

Hornsbys Wallops Twenty-seventh Home Run of Season—Doak Chased

New York—The New York Giants made it four out of five from St. Louis by dividing a double header with the Cardinals. The champions continued their heavy hitting in the first game, knocking Doak out of the box again and winning 8 to 4. Haines pitched St. Louis to a 4 to 3 victory in the second game, but had a narrow escape in the ninth when the Giants scored all their runs after two were out. Rogers Hornsby, hit his twenty-seventh homer of the season in the eighth inning of the first game, tying the National League record established by Ed Williamson of the old Chicago Nationals in 1884. John Heydler, president of the National League, and Commissioner K. M. Landis witnessed the game. Scores: Batteries Doak, Stuart and Clemens, Ryan and E. Smith.

SECOND GAME
St. Louis . . . 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 0—4 11 3
New York . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 3—3 7 1
Batteries Haines and Almsmith, Nehf, Causey and E. Smith.

REDS TRIM PHILS
Philadelphia—Cincinnati batted Singleton and Winters hard on Friday and won the final game of the series with Philadelphia 11 to 7. Chief Lee, the locals' first baseman, made two home runs, giving him five for the series. Cy Williams hit his sixteenth circuit smash of the season in the eighth. Score: Cincinnati 6 0 0 1 3 0 1 0—11 18 3
Philadelphia 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 5—7 13 1
Batteries Donohue and Hargrave, Singleton, Winters, Hubbell and Peters.

CUBS BEAT BRAVES
Boston—Percy Jones of Chicago held the Braves to five hits on Friday and the Cubs shut out Boston, 9 to 0. The hitting and fielding of Terry was excellent, while Hollocher's work in the field cut off every possible run for the Braves. Score: Chicago . . . 0 4 0 0 1 0 1 1—9 12 0
Boston . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 5 2
Batteries Jones and O'Farrell, Oeschger, Braxton and O'Neill.

DODGERS BEAT PHILADELPHIA
Brooklyn—Brooklyn made the series two out of three by taking a close game from Pittsburgh on Friday. The score was 3 to 2. Vance being slightly luckier than Adams. Carey stole four bases but could not score. De Berry's timely double in the seventh won the game for the Dodgers. Pittsburgh . . . 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—2 9 2
Brooklyn . . . 1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0—3 8 2
Batteries Adams and Goech Vance and De Berry.

FORREST LUBY, WELL KNOWN BOWLER, DEAD

Chicago—C. Forrest Luby, one of the best known bowlers in the country, died on Thursday at his home in Chicago. Death followed a lingering illness of tuberculosis, the result of being gassed in France. Luby was the son of Dave Luby, also a prominent bowler and owner of the Bowlers Journal. Forry was a top prize winner in many important tournaments. With Dominic Devito he captured many two man championships. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Montreal—Tom Kerrigan, of Sarnia, N. Y., tied with three dominant golf stars for honors in the first round of the Canadian open golf championship.

TRAILING THE TEAMS

The Yankees on top for the first time since June 16 today held a margin of a half game over St. Louis as a result of their third straight victory from Fohls' clan 7 to 3. Ken Williams clocked out his 23rd homer in the first inning.

The Giants made it 4 out of 5 from the Cardinals by breaking even in the double header that concluded a scalp marked by the sensational hitting of the champions. Hornsby's 27th homer in the first game yesterday equalled the national league mark made by Ed Williamson in 1884.

Lee hit two homers in a game for the second time in the series and Cy Williams knocked out his 16th but Cincinnati emerged an 11-7 victory in a slugfest match with Philadelphia. Brooklyn climbed back to 6th place in the National League when Vance bested Adams of Pittsburgh in a 3-2 encounter.

Terry's hitting and Jones' pitching "saturated" Chicago's 9 to 0 triumph of Boston.

Detroit's sixth inning rally netted five runs enough to beat Washington and Chicago took its second straight ten inning battle from the Red Sox 13 to 3.

Phil's had a field day at bat off Norton and Lindsay and trounced Cleveland for the second straight day 12 to 3.

MERCHANTS TO PLAY GREEN BAY TYGERS

The West End Merchants' baseball team will play the strong Green Bay Tiger amateur team known as the Merchants at Brantford park Sunday afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30. The Tiger's team is composed of college players and it has not lost a game this season out of eight games played. The Storekeepers have what is called the strongest amateur outfit in Appleton so a real baseball contest is looked for.

Hart and Blonek will be the battery for the Green Bay team while Turnover and Schabo will be the battery for the Merchants.

B. AND J. SQUAD TAKES ON NORTHWESTERN TEAM

The Behnke and Jones baseball team, with McQuire pitching and Ashman catching, will do battle with the Chicago and Northwestern squad in Brantford field at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Giesenz and Klundt will do the battery work for the railroad men.

The B and J squad is looking for games with the West End Merchants and the Toy Company of America team.

INTERLAKE TEAM READY FOR DALE; GET NEW PITCHER

Changes in Lineup Have Strengthened Pulpmakers—Cooper Taken On

SUNDAY'S GAME
Dale at Appleton
Kimberly at Hortonville
Black Creek at Freedom.

With a slightly changed lineup and after much heavy practice the Inter-lake County league team is eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Dale aggregation Sunday when the two teams play at the Interlake baseball diamond. The Pulpmakers are primed for the contest and should come out on top if every player is working right and their old mascot, the hoodoo, is left behind.

A new pitcher, who is said to be a whirlwind, has been added to the team. Cooper from Kaukauna is the new member and if he gets a chance against Dale much will be expected from him. Day will do the catching again.

Kirk will occupy first sack as usual but a change has been made in the guard line of the second and third bags. O'Hanlon's regular position is on third and that is where he will work Sunday while Bill Last will be on second. Sternard will work at shortstop.

The outfield members have not been changed and that squad will consist of Bates, C. Sternard and Day. O. Sternard is slated to open the game on the mound and will finish if he is working in good shape.

Prospects are bright for a victory, which the Interlakes need badly, but win or lose they will be there to play a fast game of baseball and if Dale bears them it will not be by a big margin.

Havana tobacco gets its delightful aroma from the aromatic oils of the leaf. Exposure to air evaporates these oils, leaving the cigar dry and strong.

Foil-wrapping keeps the cigar fresh and moist—prevents evaporation of the precious oils which make Havana cigars the smoker's favorite.

A journeyman carpenter can plan a pretty fair house for you — if what you want is a roof and four walls that will keep out the weather.

The design of a home that is economical in plan, pleasing in outline, correct in proportion, and true as to type requires a different kind of training.

We will do it better, and it will cost you less.

Our business is increasing because we do it so well.

Lifetime of Satisfying Service

Seldom, if ever does a home of this size offer so much at so reasonable a cost as does this bungalow. You may outgrow it eventually and move to a larger home, but you will surely be comfortable here as long as you live.

This home offers more than comfort and convenience. Besides a practical, compact plan you have a distinctive exterior. Sometimes a single detail will lift a home out of the commonplace. It is so in this case. The good proportions, the varied roof lines, the nicely spaced windows are all important considerations. Yet, it is really the handsome Colonial doorway that makes the exterior so distinguished.

Study of the plan will indicate compactness, convenience and no waste space. Bedrooms are grouped on one side and offer privacy; living quarters are on the other side of the house. The dining alcove is a feature. An attractive brick fireplace is topped by a wood mantel, and adjoining it is a built-in bookcase with glassed doors.

One chimney serves the flue from fireplace, range and furnace. Every bedroom has a large closet. Windows on both sides provide cross ventilation. The second floor can be finished off if the home builder desires. The basement may be omitted in mild climates.

The house can be accommodated nicely on a 42-foot long. As the house stands it is designed to be erected of frame structure, wide siding, shingle roof, brick base course, brick chimney, cement front steps. The side seats suggest hospitality.

In localities where restrictions demand fire resisting materials the exterior of the house can be changed to meet such conditions. This home has been erected many times.
